Hog Killing Time

Following heavy rains Tuesday night, a stiff breeze from the northwest sent the temperature skidding and by Thursday morning it had reached the freezing point for the first time this year. Only a trace of ice was discernable. The low temperature was accompanied by the first killing frost of the season, which is earlier than usual in this section. The first killing frost and freezing weather last year came on November 26th.

Sewer Repaired

The main sewer running from Rushing Street through the Clermon Nelson yard to the outlet to Pea River which has been giving so much trouble has finally been repaired. During the emergency the sewage was turned into Beaver Dam creek. This sewer line of ten-inch terra-cotta pipe was laid many years ago and it is about 26 feet deep and imbedded in quick sand, it gave way and had to be replaced with more substantial pipe. Earnest Owen, sewer supervisor, says it was one of the hardest jobs he ever tackled. He thinks it will cause no further trouble.

County Represented At State HD Club Council Meeting

Mrs. Robert Wise Elected Second District Director

Coffee County was represented at the State Home Demonstration Council meeting held in Biloxi, Miss. in connection with the State Farm Bureau Convention by the following:

The Coffee County Council president, Mrs. W. P. Windham, Edna Mae Weeks Farris, Mrs. Robert Wise, Rhodes Club; Mrs. A. W. Edwards, Key Line Club, and Miss Mamie Mathews, home agent.

Mrs. Windham presented the county report at the district breakfast on Tuesday morning. Mrs. Robert Wise conducted the invocation at this breakfast and was elected district director of the second district, succeeding Mrs. E. J. Whiddon of Dothan.

Much information and inspiration was received by these club members. It was a distinct honor for the county and for Mrs. Wise for her selection to office.

It will be remembered that Mrs. Wise was recently chosen to attend the National home demonstration meeting in Tulsa, Okla. the first of October. It was her privilege while there to attend the meeting of the Oklahoma Women of the World also.

Mrs. Wise has served as County Council President for Coffee County's home demonstration clubs and has been unusually outstanding in her accomplishments and achievements. Mr. and Mrs. Wise have a new country home near Kinston. They have two fine boys and a baby girl.

Jack Duval On Missing Navy Plane

Husband Of Elba Woman Navigator On Ill-Fated Craft

Jack Duval, husband of the former Miss Jean Reeves, was one of the crew of an ill-fated navy bomber plane reported missing one day last week. The plane reported that three bombers were on maneuver flying off the coast of Vancouver, Was. The two other bombers which had been flying with Duval's plane reported that they noticed ice forming on the wings and the plane seemed to be having trouble. The two planes returned to their base but Duval's plane failed to return and there has been no trace of it since.

Duval was a navigator. Relatives in Elba were notified of the planes disappearance last Friday and they have been receiving telegrams almost daily since. A telegram Tuesday stated that although a very extensive search has been carried on, no trace or clue has been found.

Mrs. Josephine Quakenbush, Jack Duval's mother, who resides in the Duvals' home on Smith Avenue, left Saturday for Washington to be with her daughter-in-law during the time of stress. Navigator Duval had many friends in this community and Mrs. Duval is an Elba girl and has resided here all her life. She has the sympathy of the entire community.

Four Loans Made In Coffee County Last Year

The Farmers Home Administration has insured four loans made by private lenders in Coffee County and several hundred throughout the country in the first years operation of the insured farm ownership program.

Both borrowers and lenders are showing increased interest in the insured type of loan. J. S. Priddy, County Supervisor, said today. The insured loan opens up a new source of credit to the farmers who want to buy, enlarge or improve their farms but who cannot get credit they need for these purposes otherwise. They bear four percent interest, with the lender getting 3 percent and the Farmers Home Administration receiving one per cent for insurance and administrative expense.

The repayment period runs for 40 years but the borrowers must refinance their loans as soon as they can do so at satisfactory rates and terms. Lenders who wish to turn over the mortgages after holding them for seven years and get paid in full for them.

While most of the funds thus far have been provided by country banks, other loans have been made by insurance companies, farm organizations and individuals.

Applications to buy, enlarge, or improve farms through insured farm loans are approved by the Farmers Home Administration County Committee in the same manner as direct loans and guidance is provided each borrower in carrying out a profitable system of farming.

Unusual and decorative Christmas wrappings may be made of pieces of left-over wall paper.

Elba Loses To Troy 38 To 6; Play In Geneva Friday

The Elba High Tigers were snowed out last week in Troy to the tune of 38 to 6 by the Troy eleven. It was a story of far, Charles Hayes, Sam Sawyer and Bob Folsom formed a committee to investigate prospective football teams to be played in the Elba. The Clark property was chosen as the most likely spot away repeatedly for long gains. Marlow made the longest run of the game in the second half when he brought an Elba kick-off from his own 30 yard line to the 10 yard line.

Farris Scores TD; Tigers Favored Over Geneva

The Elba High Tigers were snowed out last week in Troy to the tune of 38 to 6 by the Troy eleven. It was a story of far, Charles Hayes, Sam Sawyer and Bob Folsom formed a committee to investigate prospective football teams to be played in the Elba. The Clark property was chosen as the most likely spot away repeatedly for long gains. Marlow made the longest run of the game in the second half when he brought an Elba kick-off from his own 30 yard line to the 10 yard line.

The second team was called on freely in the first half and showed a lot of spirit but not enough power to stop the Troy drives.

Troy substituted freely in the second half and the Tigers looked better than in the first half but they were still outclassed. They scored early in the fourth period, but on the next play Marlow ran the kick back for 70 yards and a touchdown.

Captain Freddie Rainer blocked a punt in the closing minutes of the game. It was recovered by Elba on the Troy 10 and a 15 yard penalty put it on the 4 yard line. Farris made two on the first try but time ran out and the game ended with Elba on the Troy 2. Farris made the Elba score on a one yard plunge through center.

The game was played in a high wind and neither side was able to do much passing. Elba made several attempts and the shots were to the mark but the receivers were unable to hang on.

The Tigers journey to Geneva Friday night for an engagement with the Geneva Panthers. The Geneva crowd this year is not very impressive and the Tigers should win comfortably. Only two games remain on the Tiger slate after Geneva. Marlon "B" team will play here next week and the season will be closed in a game here with Samson the following week.

State Sponsored Fish Pond Approved For Coffee County

Work To Start Soon On 50 To 75 Acre Pond NW Of Elba

Good news for Coffee County fishermen was received here this week when a committee composed of Bob Folsom, Flournoy Whitman, Mayor Mullins, H. B. Larkins, and Jake Bonneau reported that in a conference in Montgomery, the state sponsored fish pond had been approved for Coffee County. Surveyors are to begin the preliminary work in about ten days.

The pond is expected to cover some 50 to 75 acres and will be located six miles northwest of Elba on the Gordie Clark property above Taylor's mill. The state is to finance the pond to the extent of $25,000 that has already been appropriated. The citizens of the County are expected to pay for the property. The state is to furnish and stock the pond with fish.

The project was brought up by the Elba Lions Club several months ago, and Heywood Troy, Jr., Charles Hayes, Sam Sawyer and Bob Folsom formed a committee to investigate prospective fish ponds to be played in the Elba. The Clark property was chosen as the most likely spot away repeatedly for long gains. Marlow made the longest run of the game in the second half when he brought an Elba kick-off from his own 30 yard line to the 10 yard line.

There are several such ponds in the state already, and six are now under construction. When the Elba pond is completed, the length of time will be required for construction has not been announced.

Those who took part in the play were: John Johnson, Joel Murphree, Billy Vaughan, Patsy Brunson, Buddy Whitman, John Thompson, Olin Keare, Patricia Alfred, Mary King, Billy Carter, Sam Young, John Morrow, and John Windham.

A special arrangement of "Swanee River" was sung by a quartet composed of Juanita Fuller, Frances Miles, Brian Turman and Carlton Whitman, with Ann Fox accompanying at the piano. The closing number on the program was two songs by Juanita Fuller, Frances Miles and Ella Whitaker, accompanied by Ann Fox.

A social hour followed during which the PTA members and their guests were served cake and coffee in the school lunchroom. An inspection of the new Elementary School building was made to conclude a most successful meeting.

Election Tuesday Polls Light Vote In Coffee County

It has been the policy of the Elba Clipper to publish election results by beats, but so little interest has been shown in the recent election we are giving only the total vote for each office this time.

For U. S. senator: John Sparkman 2100, Paul G. Parsons 90. For Associate Justice of Supreme Court, Place No. 1, T. E. Lawson 2079; Place No. 2, R. T. Simon 2078. For Pres. Ala. Public Service Commission, Gordon Persons 2075.

For Presidential electors, Democrats: 2031; Progressives: 10; Prohibition Party: 4; Republicans: 113; Truman 20.

All of the 11 constitutional amendments pertaining to counties and cities in the state aroused very little interest and a light vote was recorded in all of them. Votes for these amendments were as follows: No. 1, McBrayer and Mrs. R. M. (Lu-cille) Tate, Birmingham; a son, Fred Martin, Birmingham; sev-4, yes 185, no 413; No. 5, yes 316, no 478; No. 6, yes 211, no 352; No. 7, yes 141, no 416; No. 8, yes 138, M. Martin, Victoria, and Perry 415; No. 9, yes 151, no 443; No. 10, yes 187, no 335; No. 11, yes 47, no 856.

For Justice of the Peace, Beat 53, J. W. Bethlehem church on November 10, conducted by Rev. Cullen Andrews, of Enterprise. Pallbearers were: Richard Martin, James Martin, Joe Powell, Martin, Corine Martin, Bill Martin, Casey Wise and Jack Wise. Interment was in Victoria cemetery.

AUNT HET ON SCHOOL TEACHIN'

(By Robert Quillen)

"One of my girls had her heart set on bein' a school teacher, but I talked her out of it. Teachin' school is too much like bein' a preacher's wife. It's a high callin' but people expect you to give more'n they pay for."

"You take the teachers here to town. The only difference between 'em an' a Christian martyr is the date an' the lack of a bonfire. They was hired to teach an' they can do it. They teach the youngsters that can learn, an' entertain them that fell on their heads when they was little. But that ain't enough. They're supposed to make obdurate little angels out of spoiled brats that never minded nobody, an' wet nurse little wildcats so their mothers can get a little rest, an' make geniuses out of children that couldn't have no sense with the parents they're got."

"But that ain't the worst. They've got to get up plays an' things to work the school out of debt; an' when they ain't doin' nothin' else they're supposed to get a good example."

"If we don't get no pay for six months, an' can't even pay their board bills or buy decent clothes to wear, an' on top of ev'rythin' else they can't hold hands comin' home from prayer meetin' without some old pious sister with a dirty mind startin' a scandal on 'em."

I'd just as soon plow a mule. A mule works as hard but it can relieve its soul by kickin' up its heels after outtin' time without startin' no talk."

—K—
The Bible prophets were not "professionals." They had no churches to support them. No regular meetings were arranged for them. You never would have seen them in the Jerusalem Journal, if there had been such a newspaper, that the Rev. Dr. Isaiah would preach at the temple at 11 A. M. Few ever knew how or where a prophet might speak.

No one knew beforehand where a prophet might come from. Amos, for example, was a hired man from a sheep-ranch. Micah was a small town preacher. Isaiah was a highly cultured citizen of the capital. Ezechiel was a trained priest, living ritual and pagantry. Jeremiah was a lonely, hunted man, living often in jails. Daniel was a member of a king's council, wealthy and famous.

They were all kinds of men, these prophets, but one and all, they were God's voices, pleading, warning, teaching all who would hear.

Bible

(By Robert Quillen)

"One of my girls had her heart set on bein' a school teacher, but I talked her out of it. Teachin' school is too much like bein' a preacher's wife. It's a high callin' but people expect you to give more'n they pay for."

"You take the teachers here to town. The only difference between 'em an' a Christian martyr is the date an' the lack of a bonfire. They was hired to teach an' they can do it. They teach the youngsters that can learn, an' entertain them that fell on their heads when they was little. But that ain't enough. They're supposed to make obdurate little angels out of spoiled brats that never minded nobody, an' wet nurse little wildcats so their mothers can get a little rest, an' make geniuses out of children that couldn't have no sense with the parents they're got."

"But that ain't the worst. They've got to get up plays an' things to work the school out of debt; an' when they ain't doin' nothin' else they're supposed to get a good example."

"If we don't get no pay for six months, an' can't even pay their board bills or buy decent clothes to wear, an' on top of ev'rythin' else they can't hold hands comin' home from prayer meetin' without some old pious sister with a dirty mind startin' a scandal on 'em."

I'd just as soon plow a mule. A mule works as hard but it can relieve its soul by kickin' up its heels after outtin' time without startin' no talk."

—K—
The Bible prophets were not "professionals." They had no churches to support them. No regular meetings were arranged for them. You never would have seen them in the Jerusalem Journal, if there had been such a newspaper, that the Rev. Dr. Isaiah would preach at the temple at 11 A. M. Few ever knew how or where a prophet might speak.

No one knew beforehand where a prophet might come from. Amos, for example, was a hired man from a sheep-ranch. Micah was a small town preacher. Isaiah was a highly cultured citizen of the capital. Ezechiel was a trained priest, living ritual and pagantry. Jeremiah was a lonely, hunted man, living often in jails. Daniel was a member of a king's council, wealthy and famous.

They were all kinds of men, these prophets, but one and all, they were God's voices, pleading, warning, teaching all who would hear.

One Dozen Nozes

By CHARLOTTE MCCARTHY

Mrs. MOYER walked slowly, feeling as dull as the drizzly day. This was her wedding anniversary and she knew, with no possible doubt, that her husband had forgotten about it. Even the head of her fur had an almost human expression of worry and confusion as the cold rain dripped over its nose.

All very well to remind herself that she should be thankful to have such a good husband. Never had he opened his own considerable pay envelope these last ten years. Nor had he stayed away a single evening, nor complained about the way she managed her household. But tomorrow the girls would call up to find out about her present, and what could she tell them?

Afterwards, Mrs. Moyer could never remember just how she got the idea, but she found herself in the store's.

"One dozen of your best roses, please." Her own voice surprised her, but she gave her own address calmly, and told the girl that she did not wish to enclose a card.

Years ago, when money had been scarce and flowers an almost unthought-of luxury, her husband had sent her, on their anniversary, a dozen papered roses. There had been no card enclosed—no need of one.

OVER the dinner table that night, the chatter about the trivial happenings of the day.

"Oh, dear! That bill at Taylors, and I forgot all about it. This is the fourth, isn't it?"

"It's the fourth, all right." His voice was cheerful. "Old Muddick came around for the rent today, and he never misses the exorbitant rate."

"I thought you had forgotten the date, but now I can only believe it just doesn't mean anything to you." She tried to keep the tears out of her voice, saying the very thing she had made up her mind that wild horses couldn't drag out of her, but having started she had no intention of backing down now. Two heard other women saying that their husbands sometimes forgot, but I never dreamed that "The doorman peeped an interruption."

"A box for you . . . looks like flowers." She didn't look at him as she fumbled with the ribbon.

She lifted the fragrant blooms to hide her face. "They're gorgeous!" Her fingers trembled, as she pretended to search among the rustling paper for a card. "But who could have sent them?"

"Don't you remember a certain fellow who sent you roses 30 years ago and you didn't need a card then?" She almost dropped the flowers. Of all the brazen . . . but surely he wouldn't dare pretend. "You thought I'd forgotten, didn't you? I haven't asked in years just how she felt about it, but to me it's all the most important date in my life."

FOR the first time in her life, Mrs. Moyer knew that she was going to make a scene. What she was going to use for an excuse, she couldn't for Mr. Moyer's sake, since she just could produce the florist's bill to prove that she knew he was trying to take credit for something he hadn't done . . . and dressing it up with sloppy sentiment to make matters worse.

Suddenly she became aware that the phone was ringing shrilly.

"Hello." Her voice was surprisingly calm.

"Mrs. Moyer? This is the florist calling. A lady placed an order for a dozen roses to be delivered to your address, and the girl who took the order did not know that all our roses had been sold. She didn't leave a name. As a matter of fact, we did deliver another order, so I hope you aren't too disappointed. . . . We would have let you know sooner, but . . ."

"Oh, you let me know in time . . . just in time," she said sardonically, and leaving the receiver dangling from the hook, rushed into the dining room.

PEAS GAIN CHEAPEST WHEN SELLING SOW

The cheapest gains in weight per acre during the first eight months while pigs are suckling is sow.

G. B. Phillips, API, extension specialist, Auburn points out that the average brood sow produced more milk per pound of body weight than does the average dairy cow. In addition, the sow's milk is 44 per cent richer than the cow's milk.

The amount of milk that a sow gives is influenced largely by her care and feeding. That is why Phillips urges that a balanced ration—and plenty of it—be given the brood sow.

A balanced ration includes corn, green grazing, and a tankage mixture. Keep these feeds before the sow until the pigs are weaned. Also a mineral mixture and dry salt, fed free choice are highly important.

FURNITURE NEEDS REGULAR CLEANING

"Proper care of upholstered furniture begins with its selection," says Alice Perry, API extension home management specialist, Auburn.

Fabrics should be suitable to family use, and when small children are in the family group the homemaker might well select some of the new plastic upholstery which can be wiped clean, slip covers, preferably washable, help protect upholstery and insure long wear.

Clean upholstery carefully each week with proper vacuum attachments. Go over the creases and tufting and both sides of the loose cushions.

Always remove spots as soon as they appear, provided the entire covering is not soiled enough to make the cleaned spots conspicuous. Regular cleaning fluid may be used satisfactorily.

At least once a year, before the upholstery becomes too dirty, shampoo your furniture, using any of the foam shampoos available.

When purchasing a winter coat it is wise to remember that the best linings are slippery so the coat will go on easy; firm linings won't pull at the seams; colorfast, pre-shrunk and of a material that won't wrinkle or stain.
